

Calypso veteran 'mashed down' the place

A 'CRAZY' NIGHT

- in far-flung Sweden

Calypsonian CRAZY ... in action.

CRAZY on stage with Soca Rebels.

CRAZY, together with the Swedish band Soca Rebels, mashed down the place!

The show took place in Stockholm in a famous music hall called Nalen.

Soca Rebels, who's the leading soca band in Scandinavia opened the show and after a while the soca veteran Crazy entered on stage, and the whole crowd went crazy!

The Loveable Lunatic performed a mix of his old soca hits like, De Party Now Start, Dis Is How, Nani Wine and songs from his latest album Crazy On De Loose such as Rosie and Cash It.

All songs were backed by Soca Rebels.

Crazy also gave the audience a calypso, predicting the future named In Time To Come.

The place was packed with people wining, jumping and waving in the air. Crazy also invited some Swedes to come and wine on the stage with him.

The show went on for an hour and a half and after extra songs the crowd still wanted more!

Crazy, who has been in the business for more than 30 years, showed the audience that he still is at the top of the game.

This collaboration between Crazy and Soca Rebels was not the first!

In 1992, they made a successful tour in Sweden. And for things to come: Soca Rebels will record a song with Crazy for his next album.
